

From: Lisa M Eichel leichel@mit.edu
Subject: REMINDER: Now accepting nominations for the 2020 MITx Prize for Teaching and Learning in MOOCs
Date: October 16, 2020 at 10:31 AM
To: mitxonedx mitxonedx@mit.edu
Cc: mitx-faculty mitx-faculty@mit.edu, mitx_fellows_community mitx_fellows_community@mit.edu, mitx-deptheads mitx-deptheads@mit.edu

A friendly reminder that the deadline for 2020 MITx Prize nominations are coming up! We hope you'll submit a colleague (or yourself and your team!) for this opportunity to honor their hard work and ingenuity in developing global online courses. Please see details below, or here. Thank you!

From: Krishna Rajagopal <krishna@mit.edu>
Date: Monday, September 28, 2020 at 11:02 AM
Subject: Now accepting nominations for the 2020 MITx Prize for Teaching and Learning in MOOCs

Dear colleagues,

I am pleased to share that we are now accepting nominations for the annual MITx Prize for Teaching and Learning in MOOCs. The MITx Prize will recognize MOOC instructors who have demonstrated excellence, innovation, and passion in educating global learners.

Two winners, to be named in December 2020, will receive $1000 and a plaque and be honored at the virtual MITx Significant Interest Group event on December 11, 2020.

Nominations are due by October 23, 2020 and can be submitted online via this brief nomination form. Any member of the MIT community may submit nominations, and we will also welcome self-nominations. Nominations may be made on behalf of individuals or teams of up to five instructors, who will equally share the prize.

Prize criteria and eligibility is available on the MIT Open Learning website. Please contact Lisa Eichel, Assistant Director, MITx Program, at leichel@mit.edu with further questions. We look forward to receiving your nominations.

Best wishes and stay well,

Krishna Rajagopal
Professor of Physics
Dean for Digital Learning
6-311 MIT, Cambridge, MA 02139
Phone: +1 617 253 6202
Email: krishna@mit.edu