Processed for a Secret
Security Clearance

All accepted scholars are guided through the process for obtaining a secret security clearance. If appropriately maintained, the clearance can make you incredibly competitive on the job market post-graduation.

Working with Top-Tier Equipment

AFRL Scholars have access to some of the best equipment. They may utilize intricately crafted meter-by-meter cross-sectioned wind tunnels, high-tech lasers and lab environments, and other technological advancements available to the Air Force.

Great Mentorship

Mentors are prepared to share with you the necessary skills to succeed in your future. Alumnus Alec said of his experience: "If I hadn't met my mentor, I probably would still be floundering trying to figure out where I wanted to be in two to three years."

Stipend-Paid Internship

This opportunity is also a paid internship to work on your passion. Scholars can apply stipends to costs incurred from participation, including but not limited to travel, lodging, meals, and expenses.

Growing, Achieving, & Finding Direction

Whether you're a high school, undergraduate or graduate-level student pursuing a STEM degree, this program will help you succeed in the future! Alumnus Savannah benefited a "priceless experience" where she spent ten weeks in the real workforce, helping her to decide whether to go to grad school or enter the career force.

Being an AFRL Scholar is a great opportunity.
